Armenia willing to buy gas from Iran

TEHRAN - The visiting Armenian Senior Minister, Sergei Manasaryan here Sunday called for purchase of Iran's natural gas and its transport via a pipeline to his country. He made the remark in a meeting with the Minister of Oil, Bijan Namdar Zanganeh.

In the meeting, he expressed hope that Tehran-Yerevan relations would further expand on the basis of mutual interests.

Manasaryan, heading a high-ranking delegation, is currently here to discuss ways of expanding the two countries' relations with senior Iranian officials.

Ambassador:

OIC summit a venue to forge unity amongst Muslims

TEHRAN - Jordanian Ambassador in Tehran, Noh Ali Salman al-Ghazah, has said the upcoming summit of the Organization of the Islamic Conference (OIC) is a good venue to improve relations amongst Islamic states, adding that unity amongst Muslims would frustrate conspiracies of the enemies.

In an interview with the daily 'Iran' published on Monday, al-Ghazah referred to OIC as a "manifestation of Islamic awareness" which has highlighted the importance of friendly ties among Muslim nations.

Expressing hope that the OIC summit serves to realize the aspirations of Muslim nations, the ambassador stated that reconciliation and real peace amongst Muslim states as well as ending the existing "propaganda war" should be the focus of Tehran summit in December.

He further called for formation of Islamic organizations to aid the Islamic countries progress towards economic and cultural development, adding "formation of these organizations would deprive some countries of the opportunity to use aid to Islamic states as a means of promoting their own interests as well as their anti-Islamic designs," the ambassador concluded.

Meanwhile, another daily 'Abras' quoted Iran's representative to OIC, Sabah Zanganeh as saying that the agenda of the 8th OIC summit has been sent to the member states.

The daily added that the OIC member countries are now able to make appropriate decisions for their participation in the forthcoming conference.

The agenda has 12 articles and 24 notes, the most important of which is the one focusing on consolidating the position of the Islamic countries as well as the OIC at world's political geography, Zanganeh said.

Another article deals with confidence-building measures among Islamic states and settlement of regional disputes, he added.

Zanganeh further stressed that one of the main objectives of the agenda is consolidation of economic foundations and establishment of ideal economic relations among Muslim countries so that a unified economic grouping would be formed.

The current circumstances of the world of Islam demand establishment of a common Islamic market to meet the needs of the Muslim countries which constitute a major part of the globe, the Iranian envoy noted.

He concluded that critical situation in different parts of the world including, Afghanistan, Somalia, Azerbaijan as well as the Palestinian issue are other key issues of the agenda.

47 technical, engineering projects implemented abroad

TEHRAN - Some 47 projects on export of technical and engineering services, worth Dls 1,000 million, have been implemented abroad during the past two and a half years, said director for international affairs of construction companies association, Kamran Aqifi, here Sunday.

Of the total projects, 10 were carried out by the state-run companies, 25 by private and three jointly by public and private sectors, he added.

He told IRNA that Iranian companies need strong financial backing to be able to compete with foreign competitors in export of technical and engineering services.

Contracts worth one billion dollars are signed in the Middle East and Central Asia every week on construction, development and consultancy, he said adding that Iran can secure a good share of this market.

Bidding at international tenders cost each Iranian company Rls 50-100 million and not all companies can afford to pay the sum, he said adding, establishment of a center for export of technical and engineering services will reduce the costs effectively.
