

Volume 46

Number 1

Fall 2018

The Psychology of YA Literature: Traversing the Intersection of Mind, Body, and Soul

	From the Editors	3
Wendy Glenn
Ricki Ginsberg
Danielle King-Watkins	Call for Manuscripts	5
Neal Shusterman	We Are the Sum of Our Experiences:	6
	2017 ALAN Award Acceptance Speech
Nina LaCour	Navigating Trauma through the Art of Fiction:	12
Meg Medina, Chelsea Sedoti	A Collaborative Conversation
Amber Moore	We Believe Her:	15
	Sexual Assault and Friend/Ally/ship in Exit, pursued by a bear
Pamela K. Coke	Selling the Performance:	28
	Unpacking the Relationship between Media Representations, Eating Disorders, and Wintergirls
Kia Jane Richmond	An Examination of Mental Illness, Stigma, and Language in My Friend Dahmer	42
Alyssa Chrisman	Living with It:	54
	Disabling Depictions of Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder in Young Adult Literature
Brandon L. Sams	Living Well, Dying Well:	65
Mike P. Cook	Engaging Students in Mindful Inquiry through The Last Summer of the Death Warriors
Kathryn Caprino	Examining Agency in Contemporary Young Adult Illness Narratives	75
Tara Anderson Gold
Sarah J. Donovan	BOOK IN REVIEW: A TEACHING GUIDE:
	Leaning into Young Adult Literature as Our Curriculum:	87
	The Intimacy of Choice
Marissa Fackler	RIGHT TO READ:
Christie Eppler, Jung Hee Hyun	Still Looking for Alaska:	93
Kristine Gritter	Exploring Female Identity Development after Trauma
Michelle M. Falter	LAYERED LITERACIES:
with Leigh A. Hall	Peeling Back the Adolescent Armor:	99
	Putting a Positive Spin on Using Social Media for Secret Sharing
Brandy Colbert, Emery Lord	Complicating Conceptions of Mental Health:	105
Neal Shusterman	A Collaborative Conversation
Sonya Sones
John Corey Whaley		