Employee's College or VP Area: Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs

Nominated For: President's Award for Excellence

Nominated By: Kimberly Brown, Director, University Academic Advising

Virginia Tech Hire Date: June 23, 1977

Summary

Cindy has been an invaluable member of the University Academic Advising Center since it was started fifteen years ago. She serves as a knowledgeable advisor to 180 students a year in addition to exceeding expectations as the departmental office manager. Her colleagues respect her as an excellent resource of University procedures as she assists with training for all departmental advisors. She continues her own professional development to provide lasting contributions to her department by developing new ways of delivering current services through group advising and utilization of technology.

Cindy's performance is also a significant asset to the University because her principles are directly linked to the University Strategic Plan, as she is committed to student development which includes educating the whole person and facilitating disciplinary competence. She represents her unit on several University committees and serves as an exceptional mentor to student workers and always achieves more than what is required for her position.

"She's always been the glue that holds our unit together....the success of the University Studies program is a direct result of her commitment and the continued outstanding quality of her work."

"Cindy is highly respected by the people who work with her, she is organized, thorough in her paperwork, and is always reliable."
