SUMMARY

Rocky has worked for Virginia Tech Printing Services in various positions for 36½ years; his current responsibilities include customer service, estimating, and procurement. His experience in the printing and mailing industry and his knowledge of estimating allows him to consistently provide accurate quotes and quality printed materials to university customers. His long career in Printing services has afforded him a unique skill set that allows him to understand almost immediately what the customer is looking for even when the customer is not sure what they want!

According to Holli Drewry in Student Affairs, the new You're In...Now What? Student guide, which received an enthusiastic response from parents and students alike, would not have been possible without Rocky's assistance in formulating multiple quotes. Lois Stephens of Continuing and Professional Education commended Rocky for his creative approaches to finding cost-effective solutions for high quality publications during these tough economic times. Rocky deserves to be recognized for his dedication to the university and his diligent work during the past 36½ years to provide extraordinary customer service and quality printed materials to the university in support of its mission.
