SUMMARY

Kathy is a laboratory specialist who has demonstrated her excellence in the technical and program support of the faculty and students of the Human Nutrition, Foods, and Exercise department. This has increased the efficiency of the program

She has managed the chemical hygiene plans, material safety data sheets, and radioactive isotope information, created a checklist for laboratory maintenance in HNFE laboratories in Corporate Research Center XV and Wallace Hall, to include both SOP's and directions for maintaining cleanliness, sterility, updating contracts, and function of the lab and its facilities. She has also trained undergraduate and graduate students on equipment, maintenance, and safety.

Kathy is a dedicated team worker in HNFE and a role modeled leader for students. Her willingness to support whoever is in need of her techniques is a valuable asset to HNFE and Virginia Tech.
